Job description

The Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (SBS-EM) is the economics and management faculty of the University of Brussels, one of continental Europe's leading research universities. The Faculty is proud of its programmes, which combine scientific rigour, contextual engagement and problem-solving skills.

It invites applications for a part-time position in General Accounting. The course entitled 'General Accounting and Introduction to Company Law' consists of two parts, and this vacancy concerns the 'Introduction to Company Law' part. The course is taught in English to Bachelor's students in Economics and Business Engineering (nearly 1,500 students) in their first year of undergraduate studies and is also open to students in Computer Science, Chemistry, Civil Engineering and Law in the second semester of the academic year.

Educational and scientific goals :

This course aims to introduce students to the fundamental concepts of company and association law, with a focus on the Belgian legal framework (Companies and Associations Code - CSA). Students will learn to identify the different legal forms (companies and associations), their characteristics, and their economic, tax and legal implications.

The educational objective is to develop their ability to understand, explain and apply the legal rules governing the creation, operation, responsibilities and dissolution of companies and associations. From a scientific perspective, the course emphasizes the critical analysis of legal choices and their impact on the management and strategy of organizations. It takes a multidisciplinary approach, combining legal, economic and management aspects, to train professionals capable of navigating regulated environments.
