

FULL-TIME RESEARCH AND TEACHING ASSISTANT POSITION IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION PRACTICE

FACULTY OF HUMAN MOVEMENT SCIENCES

Reference : 2026/S113

Application deadline : 24/04/2026 12:00 PM

Expected start date : 01/10/2026

Job Description

The research assistant position corresponds to an appointment in which at least half of the workload must be devoted to research activities. The remaining portion of the workload is primarily dedicated to teaching. The assistantship must lead to the submission and defense of a doctoral thesis within six years of scientific activity.

The candidate will be required to teach practical courses in physical and sport activities within the various modules of the Bachelor's degree in Motor Sciences, the Bachelor's degree in Physiotherapy and Rehabilitation, as well as within the Master's degree in Motor Sciences (Physical Education track) and the Teacher Education Master's program, Section 4.

The candidate will conduct research within the NeuroMove Research Unit (IR011).

Skills required

Holder of a 120-credit Master's degree in human movement sciences, Physical Education, or an equivalent qualification, and must meet the eligibility requirements for enrollment in a doctoral program.

Demonstrated experience in teaching practical physical and sports activities.

Courses covered

KINE-I107 – Motor Education and Psychomotricity

KINE-I202 – Motor and Sports Education Adapted to Rehabilitation

The successful candidate will also contribute to additional teaching activities within the "Physical and Sports Activities" I, II, III, IV, V, or VI modules in the Physical Education section, depending on their specific sports-related competencies.
